

TENNESSEE, KNOXVILLE 37996-0925. The University of Tennessee Department of Geography invites applications for a one-year visiting position at the Assistant Professor level, starting mid-August, 2008, with a possibility of the position being extended to a second year. Specialty is open, but preference will be given to applicants who can teach in one or more of the following areas: climatology, population geography, remote sensing, and quantitative methods. Our department provides a supportive and nurturing environment for students and faculty, and we have excellent facilities. Ph.D. in geography or closely allied field required at time of appointment to visiting assistant professor. ABD candidates will be considered for appointment at the rank of visiting lecturer. For general information about the department, see <http://web.utk.edu/~utkgeog> . Review of applications will begin August 1, 2008 and continue until the position is filled. Apply: Due to the short lead time, applicants should submit their applications via email to Dr. Bruce A. Ralston, Search Committee Chair at bralston@utk.edu. Applications should include a curriculum vitae and a cover letter highlighting the applicant's qualifications for the position. Please provide names, email addresses, and phone numbers of three references and if possible arrange for your references to send letters of recommendation by email to bralston@utk.edu.

The University of Tennessee is an EEO/AA/Title VI/Title IX/Section 504/ADA/ADEA institution in the provision of its education and employment programs and services. All qualified applicants will receive equal consideration for employment without regard to race, color, national origin, religion, sex, pregnancy, marital status, sexual orientation, age, physical or mental disability, or covered veteran status.